

Exclusively at Wentronic before sales start 3SIXT sleeves and screen protectors for new iPhones now available

- Wentronic expands its 3SIXT product range with sleeves and display protection for new iPhones
- New products exclusively available for retailers before sales start

Braunschweig, 20th August 2018 – This September, Apple will introduce its new iPhone models. Dealers can already order the new 3SIXT protective sleeves and display protectors exclusively from Wentronic even before the sales start. The Braunschweig-based distributor offers retailers the opportunity to stock-up on accessories for the popular smartphone even before its official launch to be prepared for the high demand.

The 3SIXT protective sleeves offer owners of the new iPhone models best protection for their devices. The sleeves are available in three models that are perfectly tailored to the user's needs. They combine a high-quality, trendy design with smart functions and allow easy access to all controls and ports.

- PureFlex offers everyday protection with a slim, lightweight design, soft TPU edges and a transparent polycarbonate back.
- SlimFolio provides great-looking protection. The foldable sleeve with textile cover has a built-in stand which enables users to view videos hands-free.
- NeoWallet is a protective sleeve and wallet in one. A magnetic lock keeps the genuine leather cover securely closed. It also offers space for credit cards, ID and more.

In addition to the protective sleeves, Wentronic offers robust display protection from 3SIXT for the new iPhone models. The 3SIXT protection glass shields the display thanks to its robust construction made of high-strength tempered glass. The display remains undamaged even in the event of a fall, thus avoiding expensive repairs. The 3SIXT screen protector glass also prevents scratches and smudges and ensures optical clarity for a better viewing experience. The screen
